Design business processes
without hosting a developer or writing code.

No-code, breaks the “code” barrier between ideas and solutions and is the ideal way to develop software.

No-code platforms, which are a part of digital transformation, are the best alternative to traditional application development methods and bring many advantages, especially in the automation of business processes.

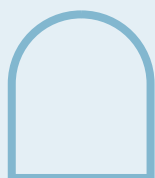

In No-code applications, business processes can be designed very quickly without the need for coding knowledge, and the process can be easily adapted as needs change. No-code platforms empower and bring convenience to developers and IT teams.

It has never been easier for end users to create their own business processes!

What is BPM?

Business Process Management (BPM) systems lie at the heart of the digital transformation of businesses. Business processes are the combination of the steps, tasks and activities that make up the functioning of an organization. These systems are digitalized and modeled in accordance with the approval mechanism for more effective and efficient management of institutions' business processes.

Not every drag and drop means No-code. E-Flow is Turkey's first truly No-code BPM platform. With the drag and drop technology on the E-Flow No-code platform, processes are designed by focusing on needs and can be reshaped according to changing business needs.

Every individual without any coding knowledge can become an E-Flow Citizen Designer.

With low investment cost E-Flow for organizations of different scales, you can design and use the process in half a day and use it instantly.
